Brief about the event (context and Learning outcomes)

The Mega Plantation Drive 2025, organized by the NSS Unit of VIT Bhopal University, was a large-scale environmental initiative aimed at promoting sustainable practices, ecological awareness, and community participation. After the success of the previous year's drive, this year's event saw even greater enthusiasm and scale - with over 3,000+ saplings planted across designated zones of the university campus by 500 volunteers containing NSS and University Students.

The event not only emphasized environmental responsibility but also served as a platform for students to build leadership, teamwork, and organizational skills. Students from different batches came together, led by team leads and co-leads, and executed the plantation drive with dedication and discipline.

Learning Outcomes:

- Environmental Awareness: Volunteers developed a deeper understanding of the importance of afforestation and environmental sustainability.
- Teamwork and Leadership: Students worked collaboratively in structured teams led by peers, enhancing their leadership and coordination skills.
- Responsibility and Discipline: Through organized execution and assigned responsibilities, students learned the importance of discipline and accountability.
- Community Engagement: Participants experienced the impact of collective action in contributing to a greener future, aligning with the core values of NSS.
